Snow pack levels are well below normal in most parts of Idaho and the severity of the situation will be discussed in detail by Idaho Water Supply Committee when it meets tomorrow at IDWR Headquarters in Boise.

It's very likely that Idaho is facing its sixth straight year of drought and the Committee's water supply forecast will be essential to water users across the state who are busy planning for the next growing and recreation season.

The Water Supply Committee includes water managers and hydrology experts from both the public and the private sector. Each will provide information that will be used to formulate a comprehensive water picture for 2005.

The meeting is open to the public.

Where: Idaho Water Center, 322 E. Front Street, Boise, in the Boise and Snake River
